Part II, line 9:

The Trust accomplishes its land conservation objectives by, among other means, accepting donations of interests in real property. The Trust accepts donations or purchases "conservation easements" on qualifying properties. Conservation easements are perpetual agreements between the Trust and private landowners through whom the landowners agree to abide by certain restrictions designed to preserve the open space or conservation value of their land; these agreements are binding on all future landowners. The total number of easements in favor of the Trust is fifteen (15).

Upon accepting a conservation easement, the Trust assumes a perpetual obligation to monitor, normally on an annual basis, the affected property to ensure that the landowners comply with the restrictions of the easement. Further, the Trust is perpetually obligated to enforce provisions of the easements in the event of a violation to the terms of the easement. Enforcing an easement violation could involve costly legal or other expenses. Although conservation easements are real property rights, they possess little or no market value due to a resale market that is essentially limited to the owner of the fee title of the restricted property. Because of this limited market and due to the obligations inherent in easement ownership, the Trust's easement holdings are recorded on the statements of financial position using a one dollar placeholder.

Part V, line 4:

To acquire land and easements for conservation purposes.

Part X, Line 2:

The Trust has adopted the provisions of FASB ASC 740-10. Management has evaluated the Trust's tax positions and concluded the Trust has taken no uncertain tax positions requiring adjustment to the financial statements to comply with these provisions. With few exceptions, the Trust is no longer subject to income tax examinations by U.S. Federal tax authorities for the years before 2013.
